

GALERIE DIX9 Hélène Lacharmoise

Chronophotosynthèse, 12 016

---

Vincent Lemaire

Chronophotosynthèse, 12 016

photographies black & white, fluorescent light and support, gelatine, electrical cable

Image: 10 x 570 x 60 cm

Unique artwork

courtesy Galerie Dix9 Hélène Lacharmoise

Description:

"Chronophotosynthesis" is a sum work. It brings together human life, represented by a set of fragments and the association of light and time. Reflection on the conditions of existence of life, it presents itself as a sequencing, alternating voluntarily allusive photographs and antiquated neon whose pale luminous intensity and buzzing sound give to see a cosmic atmosphere where the human I merges with the force of the stars. Chronicle of a humanity in perdition, "Chronophotosynthesis is a path of life, bounded by a beginning and an end. For Vincent Lemaire, the unfinished and the transient transfigure our claim to tame the universe.

Théo-Mario Coppola, curator - excerpt from the booklet of the exhibition "After the Big Bang" December 2016